

Transforming Education for All

Stand Together Trust works toward a future where individuals and families take charge of their education and actively seek out education options that fit their needs and preferences. Through grant funding and access to programs, services, and peer networks, we help education changemakers launch and scale new learning models, advance policy reforms that empower families with more options and control, and increase families' awareness of, and trust in, alternatives to traditional schooling.

A New Frontier in Education is Emerging

Self-Determined Parents

Parents seeking diverse and innovative education options for their children.

Entrepreneurial Educators

Educators creating new and unique schools, from classical to self-directed learning, to meet the increasing demand from families.

Transformative Policies

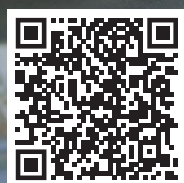

Policies spreading nationwide that empower families with the choice, agency, and funding to select the best educational settings.

Disruptive Technology

Technologies, including AI, revolutionize individual lives regardless of the current education system's acceptance.

Driving Change in Education: Empowering Families, Advocating Innovation, and Showcasing Success:

- Grow the market's share of affordable and sustainable out-of-system options to serve as proof points to inspire others.
- Appeal to Early Majority families through nationally scalable tech products that promote alternative approaches.
- Advocate for policy where families and educators build education from the bottom up, encouraging experimentation and specialized approaches.
- Promote this New Education Frontier through media, thought leadership, influencers, and other channels to show our vision in practice.

Join us in transforming education for all and unleashing the potential in every individual.
